

United States Army Corps of Engineers

And Clemson University

Awards this

Certificate of Appreciation to

Sravani Pati

In recognition of your outstanding contributions on the Dam Sector Regional Risk and Resilience Program (DSR3P), a collaborative effort between the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) and Clemson University.

Your dedication and hard work have significantly advanced our collective efforts to build resilience in low-capacity communities. Your engagement has helped develop crucial risk management strategies and foster sustainable relationships across academia, government, and local communities. Your contributions have set a foundation for replication and long-term impact across the nation.

We commend you for your exceptional professionalism and commitment to enhancing community resilience.

Awarded this 13th day of May 2024

Frank Randon
Frank Randon - Disaster Program Manager /
Civil Engineer - US Army Corps of Engineers

David Vaughn
David Vaughn - DSR3P Project Manager /
Professor of Practice - Clemson University